Tasting notes

Intense in colour, its robe glows between a dark garnet and a deep ruby. The nose has a hint of flowers and fruit, with a dominant violet note underlined by a hint of cherry. Tannic, fleshy and delicately spicy, this wine reveals complex flavours on the palate, combining finesse and harmony. It is generally characterized by a remarkable finish.

Food & wine pairings

The Moulin à Vent "L'Éolienne" goes perfectly with red meats, game and strong cheeses.

Ageing potential Until 10 years

Story

The Moulin à Vent is the most majestic of the Crus du Beaujolais. It derives its name from an ancient windmill located, since the 15th century, on a hill overhanging the appellation. It stands proudly at an altitude of 258 metres. The Eolienne is a selection that we have been refining over the years with the same longlasting relationship winegrowers. We are deliberately launching this appellation with a delay of one or two years.
